ABDUCTION ALERT

Warning to parents after man in van tries to snatch five-year-old

PARENTS have been urged to keep a close eye on their children following the attempted abduction of a young girl in Harlow.

Police issued the public warning after a five-year-old playing in the front garden of a home in Broomfield was grabbed by a stranger at 3.50pm on Sunday afternoon.

The man - who had got out of a white Ford Transit-style van - only let go of the girl's arm when her older sister appeared.

It is the latest in a spate of worrying incidents reported to police in recent months.

In February detectives issued a warning when two separate groups of young girls became suspicious about the actions of a van driver who had stopped to speak to them.

Due to the young age of the children involved in the latest incident, they will be questioned by specially-trained officers to try to ascertain exactly what happened.

In the meantime, police have increased patrols in the area and have urged parents to be mindful of exactly where their children are playing.

Superintendent Luke Collision, of Essex Police, said: "While this appears to be a worrying incident, I want to reassure the public that we are doing everything possible to trace those involved.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"I would urge parents to keep a close eye on their children and remind them about not speaking to strangers. Anyone who has concerns about any suspicious behaviour should immediately ring police on 999."

Schools across the town were alerted to Sunday's attempted abduction by police and sent out warning letters and text messages to parents.

Harlow Council plans to support the increased police activity by stepping up patrols by its Community Safety Team over the Easter holiday period.

Lynn Seward, the authority's head of community and customer services, said: "Over the holiday period four uniformed officers from the Community Safety Team supported by other staff are stepping up patrols where children play and we are working closely with Essex Police to share intelligence."

Anyone who notices any suspicious behaviour, especially involving a white Transit-style van, should immediately call police on 999.

TOWIE's Mr Darcy the pride of Pets' Corner

A PIG that gained celebrity status after appearing in hit TV show The Only Way Is Essex has swapped the nightlife of Brentwood for a quiet life in Harlow after becoming the latest arrival at Pets' Corner.

Kune-Kune porker Mr Darcy, the former pet of TOWIE stars Lydia Bright and James Argent, moved to the Town Park zoo after outgrowing his previous sty on a farm in Ongar.

The popular pig, who has over 25,000 followers on Twitter, made his debut on the successful ITV2 show as a birthday present for Lydia from on/off boyfriend Arg, who had mistakenly thought he was a micro pig.

Lynn Seward, head of community and customer services at Harlow Council, said Mr Darcy had already proved to be a hit with visitors.

"Mr Darcy is settling well and is proving popular with children and adult visitors alike," she said. "Clearly being a TV celebrity hasn't turned his head!"

Pets' Corner will be holding a family fun day on Easter Monday, starting at 11am, with all proceeds going towards the cost of running the attraction.

FEELING SWINE: Mr Darcy, Lydia Bright, has now settled into his new home in Harlow Town Park (S)

Make play area vandals pay for the repairs says MP

THE vandals who wrecked a youth shelter at a community play area should be forced to pay for repairs, according to Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

Last week the Star reported how the covered seating area behind the Berecroft estate had been destroyed, lights smashed and broken bottles and drug paraphernalia dumped all over the playing surface, making it unsafe for youngsters to use.

And after visiting the site earlier this week, Mr Halfon urged police to come down hard on the yobs responsible for the vandalism.

He also pledged to spearhead attempts to raise enough money to cover the

Residents' fury at play area vandals

FLASHBACK: Last week's Star story

cost of repairs which could run into thousands of pounds.

"I was deeply shocked, the scene was like a warzone," Mr Halfon told the Star. "I have spoken several times in the past few days with Zulqar Cheema, the chairman of the residents' association, and have also contacted Harlow Council and the local police community support officer to see what action can be taken.

"Vandalism like this must not be swept under the carpet. Those behind it must be caught and asked to pay for repairs."

Mr Halfon has already donated £100 to get the fundraising scheme off the ground and said he would be appealing to local businesses for help in the coming weeks.

Mr Cheema appealed for anyone who knew the identity of the vandals to come forward.

"We're all very pleased that Robert's on board to help us but it shouldn't have to come to this," he said.

"Whoever is responsible for this mindless act of vandalism should be made to pay for the damage they have caused to our community or forced to carry out the repairs themselves.

"I would urge those who know what happened to contact the police so they can catch the idiots who did this."

Anyone with any information regarding the incidents should contact police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

8ft snake sent by parcel post

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

SHOCKED postal workers were left rattled by the discovery of a live eight-foot snake inside a parcel sent from Harlow to Devon.

The albino reticulated python was spotted as the box was scanned by an X-Ray machine at Stansted Airport, where it was due to be put onto a plane to complete its journey.

The reptile – a species commonly kept as a pet – had already spent eight hours in the UK postal system.

It had been on its way to a new owner in Exeter who had bought it over the internet from an address in Harlow.

Royal Mail immediately alerted the RSPCA and the snake was then taken to a wildlife centre while its owner was traced.

The buyer has since arranged for a specialist courier to deliver the snake to his address.

Inspector Steve Reeves said the creature, which was unharmed by its ordeal, had a lucky escape.

"Snakes are very sensitive to their environment and could well become ill if this is wrong," he said. "For instance, a cold-blooded reptile could suffer if it was put into a cold place like an airplane hold.

"Even with 'fragile' written on the box the python was in danger from bumps and mishaps along the way. Snakes are sensitive to stress such as from loud noise and vibrations, which can lead to illness.

"No-one apart from the sender knew there was a live animal in the box. It would not have had the temperature, humidity or lighting that it needed for the whole of the journey, which could have gone on for some time if the flight was delayed or even re-directed elsewhere."

Sophie Adwick, exotics and trade officer for the RSPCA, added: "This python is a living creature with specialised needs, not some object to be tossed into the mail so thoughtlessly.

"This shocking case shows just how easy it is to order an exotic animal via the internet and the complete disregard that some people have for animal welfare.

"If you are thinking about getting an animal visit a reputable seller or rescue centre, not a website."

Ticket-free system to cut hassle of parking

SHOPPERS visiting the Water Gardens this Easter will be among the first in the country to test-drive new car parking payment arrangements.

The ticketless 'pay on route' scheme means drivers will no longer have to traipse back and forth across the car park to purchase and display a ticket in their windscreens.

Instead, they will be required to register their vehicles at the onsite machines by keying in the number of the parking bay and then pay for the amount of time they wish to stay.

An option to enter a mobile telephone number will also be available, allowing for notifications to be sent when the parking time is almost up.

The messages will include a link where motorists can purchase more hours on their phone without needing to return to their vehicle.

Manager Beryl Murphy said: "We're delighted to offer our customers a quicker and easier way to park and a way that will allow them to make the most of their time with us this Easter and beyond."

The Water Gardens is hosting a number of family-friendly Easter events over the holiday weekend, including a special 'Winning Whirlwind' challenge giving shoppers the chance to grab vouchers for many of the complex's stores.

Some special Easter characters will also be making an appearance to hand out chocolate eggs.

"We're excited that this weekend will be one the whole family can enjoy," said Beryl. "With the added bonus of two hours free parking on purchases over £5 at ASDA and Matalan we hope everyone has a very Happy Easter."

Bikers on a hunt for eggs to cheer up hospital kids

MORE than 60 motorcyclists saddled up to give children staying at Princess Alexandra Hospital an eggs-tra special Easter.

Members of the Harlow-based Rough Creed Motorcycle Club joined other local bikers to collect more than 300 chocolate eggs from local businesses, residents and shoppers during their charity ride around the town on Saturday.

Club vice-president Richard West said they had been overwhelmed by the response they received.

"People were going into shops and buying eggs to donate to us as we went round and local business in the area were just brilliant," he said.

"I want to say a big thank you to everyone who made a donation, including Image Worx, Co-op and S&L Enterprises who all made significant contributions, and The Stow post office who donated 50 eggs alone."

He added: "It is the first time we have ever organised this event and after the success we had it's certainly something we will look at doing annually."

Marathon training is no tea party for Deb

HARLOW residents may be forgiven for thinking they are in Wonderland when they spot the Mad Hatter pounding the pavements over the next few weeks.

But the Alice In Wonderland character won't be stopping for tea anytime soon as there is important work to do – train for the London Marathon.

The costume is being worn by Deb Butler, who said: "A few people may spot me out and about over the next few weeks as I am training for the London Marathon to help raise as much money as possible for mental health charity Mind.

"It will be my fourth marathon, but this year I and a couple of friends have decided to attempt it in fancy dress with an Alice In Wonderland theme.

"As I'm known among my peers as 'Loon', it seemed only fitting that I took the role of the Mad Hatter but it means I've got to get used to running in the costume, which is very heavy!"

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A long-term sufferer from depression, Deb – who lives in Bush Fair – said she is keen to increase understanding about the condition.

"I believe depression is a hugely misunderstood illness," she said. "It is a medical condition that many don't realise sufferers have no control over.

"You can go from feeling perfectly happy to suddenly losing interest in everything and feeling anxious and angry. It is very debilitating."

Although Deb believes she has suffered depression for much of her life, it wasn't diagnosed until she was in her late twenties.

"For many years I just thought that was how I was and accepted it," she explained. "Then one day I plucked up the courage to go to the doctor and I was told I had depression.

"I can't put into words the relief of being told that there was genuinely something wrong."

After discovering the West Essex Mind group this year, Deb said she is coping well with her condition and now hopes to encourage other sufferers to seek help.

"There is a lot of support nowadays through groups like Mind to help people with depression," she said. "The key is recognising it and having the strength to get help, rather than just shielding away from the world."

As for her attempt on the London Marathon, she said: "Fortunately I am very fond of running and doing exercise which helps keep the demons at bay and gives me much needed self-esteem. I am just happy to be able to do my bit to help, even if it does mean running around Harlow dressed as a loon!"

Bag a bargain at charity boot sale

BARGAIN hunters can pick themselves up some extra treats this Easter at a charity car boot sale.

Harlow Showground Events, a charitable organisation set up by the Great Parndon Community Association after it took over the running of Harlow Council's event service this week, are launching their new indoor and outdoor car boot sales on Sunday.

The car boot and table top sales, which will be held weekly at the old Passmores Leisure Hall on Abercrombie Way, are to raise funds for events such as the town's annual firework display.

For a small fee anyone, including market traders, will be able to sell their wares, with 10 stalls allocated free to local charities every week.

Sellers should arrive from 6.30am to set up, with keen bargain hunters able to get in at 7am for a £1 fee. Entry is free after 8am.

For more information or to pre-book a pitch, call events manager David Shimmen on 07850 445533 or email harlowcarboot@gmail.com.

Join community for family fun run

CHOCOHOLICS are being encouraged to burn off the calories at a family fun run on Monday.

The Church Langley Residents' Association is putting on the event to raise funds for its upcoming jubilee celebrations, details of which are to be announced soon.

Taking place at Church Langley playing fields from 10am, the run will follow a 5k route with a 2k Kids Run also marked out for those under 10 years of age.

CLRA vice-chairman Michael Rowe said: "Having formed just eight months ago, we have already accomplished a lot and have many plans for the future to help make our community a more harmonious place and something we can all be proud of.

"We hope as many people as possible will come down for the run to support our efforts."

To register for the fun run or for more information, visit the website at www.funrun.churchlangley.org.

St Clare lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, March 30 is ticket holder 527692, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 412805, who also lives in Harlow.

Passmores' deputy is just the ticket to pick raffle winners

EVERYONE was on their best behaviour when Passmores Academy vice-principal Stephen Drew took charge of St Clare Hospice's raffle.

Mr Drew, who gained unexpected celebrity status because of his appearance in the Channel 4 documentary series Educating Essex, agreed to pick the prizewinners in the annual fundraiser.

Sales of raffle tackers have raised £32,000, enough to pay for the care of eight patients at the hospice's inpatient unit for a whole week. The top prize of £2,000 went to 80-

year old Sawbridgeworth resident Eric Marwood

Mr Drew said: "The work that places like St Clare do is absolutely vital in supporting families at difficult times in their lives.

"They provide that calm support and atmosphere and have such a vital part to play in our community."

Michael Chapman, chairman of the trustees at St Clare Hospice, added: "I would like to thank everyone involved in organising the raffle.

"It is important these sorts of events are successful as even in times of financial crisis people still get ill and need our help and support."

He added: "I was really pleased that Stephen was able to come to make the draw."

Minister talks tough on immigration

GOVERNMENT minister Damian Green vowed to clamp down on the number of illegal immigrants entering the UK when he visited Harlow College on Thursday.

The Conservative MP for Ashford, who was invited to the town by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, took part in an informal question-and-answer session with college staff, students, charity workers, faith leaders and residents.

Speaking to the Star after the meeting, Mr Green said he sympathised with concerns about the issue of immigration.

"I understand why people are worried because when we came into office in 2010 immigration was at a quarter of a million people coming in a year," he said.

"If you run it at that level then the increased demand for public services, housing and so on will cause problems and naturally make people anxious and angry.

"That is why we have said over the course of five years we will cut it down to the tens of thousands rather than the hundreds of thousands a year.

"However, we still want the brightest and best people from around the world to come to our country so it is about getting the right balance."

Mr Green said a number of policies were being implemented by the Government to bring the numbers down. "We have initiated a clampdown on work visas and changed the student visa system to ensure proper inspections are conducted," he added. "We are also encouraging thousands of colleges to stop taking foreign students. An assessment on family and marriage rights will be the next step.

"In the last year we removed 40,000 people who had no right to be here, though I would like to see that number even higher."

Mr Halfon said immigration was the number one issue raised by Harlow residents on the doorstep.

"Every time we knock on a door, people want to know what our government is doing about immigration," he said.

"I was pleased the minister was able to explain the measures that the Government is bringing in to control immigration and to

MEP launches campaign to bridge the generation gap

EURO MP and former Harlow Council leader Richard Howitt lent a hand to volunteers at one of the town's charity shops when he launched a new initiative aimed at bringing young and old together.

Mr Howitt spent a morning at the Age UK store in West Gate to launch the European Year of Active Ageing, a campaign designed to encourage solidarity between generations while raising awareness of the contribution that older people make to society. Mr Howitt explained: "With people living longer across the UK and Europe than ever before, there is an even greater need for better understanding and support from younger generations.

"The aim of this campaign is to encourage younger people to remember that their community wouldn't be what it is had it not been for our older members of society, and to strengthen the relationship between the groups.

"We are particularly hoping to encourage more young people to take up voluntary work with groups like Age UK and make that step towards giving something back whilst equally benefiting from spending time with older, experienced people."

Parties ready for poll fight

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

CONSERVATIVES are expecting a "tough fight" in their attempts to keep control of Harlow Council in next month's local elections.

Voters will go to the polls on May 3 to select candidates in all 11 wards, with one extra seat up for grabs in Bush Fair following last month's resignation of Labour councillor Helen Hart.

The Tories retained control in last year's vote despite a strong showing from Labour, who picked up seven of the 11 seats available and vowed to "finish the job" this May.

But Conservative group leader Andrew Johnson said his party were ready for a battle – and told the Star there was still all to play for next month.

"We've been knocking on doors and talking to residents since last July so it's fair to say we've put a lot of effort into our preparations for this round of local elections," he said.

"Harlow is always a tough fight and we're expecting the same this year, but I've been very encouraged by the response from residents to what we've done on a local level. It's been very positive indeed.

"We've frozen our share of council tax for the third year running, put in a successful Enterprise Zone bid, helped secure funding for road upgrades and secured the future of our discretionary services, all at a time when the council is under enormous financial pressure.

"Obviously there are those with reservations about the Coalition Government, but we hope people will judge us on what we've achieved locally."

Labour officially launched their election campaign earlier this week when shadow minister for work and pensions Liam Byrne – son of former Harlow Council general manager

READY: Liam Byrne, centre, and Liz Kendall, shadow minister for care and older people, help launch Harlow Labour Party's local election campaign

Dermot Byrne – visited the town to meet voters.

Jon Clempner, campaign manager and candidate for Little Parndon & Hare Street, said the party was "positive" about its chances but was taking nothing for granted.

"There is a real buzz about the Harlow Labour Party with our new parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride, an influx of new members and a recognition that this is the most important local election for years all contributing to a new impetus," he said.

"We have had teams out every weekend for months and will be out every day from now until the election listening to residents' concerns.

"National issues such as the reckless reorganisation of the NHS, the millionaires' budget, the granny tax, jobs and growth feature heavily in those conversations.

"The out-of-touch Tories are not listening to local people, but we are determined to fight for residents in tough times."

The Liberal Democrats saw their vote crumble across the town last year and currently have no representation on the authority following the defection of former group leader John Strachan to Labour and the death of Mark Hall councillor Nick Macy last year.

But group chairman and former councillor Chris Millington said his party remained "in good heart" and were now determined to win back seats on the council.

"Our number one priority is to regain a presence on Harlow Council," he said. "We know it's going to be difficult but the signs on the doorstep are encouraging.

"People are starting to realise that we're playing a key role in the Coalition Government. We've seen a number of our key policies implemented, including the recent increase in the personal allowance which is something that will benefit thousands of workers in Harlow.

"As a party we're closer and more unified now and are ready to do all we can to ensure Liberal Democrat voters have a voice on the council."

Struggling to pay off your water arrears?

You may be able to receive an award to pay off your arrears if you are a Veolia Water account holder!

Your local Citizens Advice Bureau can help you!

In addition, some customers have been helped to gain payments for gas and electricity debts, rent and Council Tax debts, household items, funeral debts, telephone debts, Debt Relief Order fees and Bankruptcy fees.

If you are a domestic customer of Veolia Water struggling to pay off your current water arrears, let alone the new bill that will be arriving, help is at hand to assist you in negotiating affordable repayments to your creditors and possibly receiving an award to pay off your arrears.

Our advisers have helped Veolia Water customers in Harlow to balance their family budgets, negotiate affordable repayments to their creditors and gain assistance.

Examples include:

- A young mother from Harlow in her twenties with two children on benefits had water arrears of £456. After assistance from our adviser in drawing up a family budget Veolia Water Trust agreed to make her an award to pay off the arrears provided she kept to an affordable payment plan for her current water bill for the next six months.
- A 31 year old single man on Incapacity Benefit due to mental health problems, who had been living in his one bedroom rented property without a cooker for over twelve months because he did not want the worry of getting into debt, was awarded an electric cooker by Veolia Water Trust with our adviser's assistance.
- A divorced man in his forties with three dependant children who regularly stay with him and gas and water arrears of £755 was made a conditional award of £486 from Veolia Water Trust to pay off his Veolia Water arrears in full. Our adviser also successfully negotiated with his gas supplier to accept a £5 per week offer of repayment towards his gas arrears.

Our money advisor states "We are expecting more demand than ever this year due to the hard winter pushing up people's utility bills and loss of income through reduced working hours and unemployment. People shouldn't be embarrassed to ask for the help that's available for them. This service is funded by the Veolia Water Trust and like all CAB services it is free and confidential".

The advice provided by the Citizens Advice service is free, independent, confidential, and impartial, and available to everyone regardless of race, gender, disability, sexual orientation, religion, age or nationality. For online advice and information see www.adviceguide.org.uk

We are open 5 days a week 10am - 4pm with 3 morning drop in sessions on Monday, Wednesday, Friday 10am - 1pm where volunteer advisors can help. All other times we are open to provide leaflet information or alternative assistance. For more information visit www.harlowcitizensadvice.org.uk.

Derek's a part of sporting history

A HARLOW man became one of the first people to cross the finish line at the new Olympic Stadium after completing a five-mile run in memory of his late wife.

Derek Seymour, of Radburn Close, was among 5,000 members of the public to be picked by ballot from almost 43,000 hopefuls to take part in the National Lottery Olympic Park Run in Stratford.

The father-of-two, whose wife Christine died five years ago, ran alongside household names including model Nell McAndrew, former Spice Girl Melanie C and Princess Beatrice to complete the course in a time of 40 minutes.

"I saw the event advertised online and applied to run it in memory of Christine," said Derek, pictured right.

"I took up running soon after losing her and it has played a really big part in helping me to get through the hard times. I was also born in Stratford so it was good to go back to where I grew up."

Derek, who is currently in training to run a marathon, said the run had been one of the best experiences of his life. "It was an absolutely incredible experience and something I will never forget," he added.

Water supplier pulls the plug on hosepipes

A HOSEPIPE ban comes into force in Harlow today (Thursday) as the UK's worst drought in nearly 30 years takes its toll on regional water reserves.

According to supplier Veolia Water Central, months of exceptionally low rainfall has left it with no choice but to restrict residents' water use, even though the company loses 181m litres every day through leaks on its network.

Water resources manager Mike

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Pocock insisted the ban was essential to conserve resources – and warned that further restrictions could follow if the drought continued.

"We take most of our water from chalk aquifers and these natural sources have simply not been refilled by autumn, winter and spring rain," he said.

"The levels are now well below average and we have to carefully manage the water we have to see us through the summer months."

He added the firm was on track to exceed its leakage reduction target as set out by Government regulator Ofwat.

"We are ensuring that our company continues to meet the leakage target and we are on track to exceed it for the second year running," he said.

"We want to work closely with our customers to ensure a secure water supply in drought conditions and will be promoting water saving throughout the summer."

Under the terms of the restriction order, residents will be barred from using a hosepipe to water plants and gardens, cleaning cars or boats, wash walls, windows, paths or patios and fill domestic swimming or paddling pools, fountains and ponds.

Anyone found flouting the ban, which will remain in place until July at the earliest, risks prosecution and a fine of up to £1,000.

Mr Pocock added: "By putting restrictions in place we aim to emphasise the situation and appeal to our customers to work with us to reduce their water use."

"If we all make small lifestyle changes it can make a big difference."

Some firms and organisations relying on heavy water use will be excluded from the ban. For details of exceptions and tips on conserving water, log on to the Veolia website at www.veoliawater.co.uk/drought.

Volunteers spring into action to give town a clean sweep

GROUPS of litter-pickers swept through Harlow on Saturday to give the town a spring clean.

The teams of residents aged from four to 74 hit the streets to spruce up their neighbourhoods.

One team from Stewards Academy cleared the meadow next to the school while a second walked from Paddock Mead to the town centre, clearing litter as they went.

The three other groups set off from Café Youth in the town centre and covered The Hydes, The Dashes, Wych Elm, Rivermill, Morley Grove, Harlow College, the rear of The Square, the Post Office car park cycle track, Hester House park and woods and the field opposite Asda.

After just two hours the 51 volunteers had filled 94 bags with rubbish – enough to fill the petting enclosure at Pets' Corner!

Harlow Council chief executive and Safer Harlow partnership chairman Malcolm Morley said: "I'm very grateful to all those who gave their time on Saturday and hope those who litter their environment do the right thing and put their litter in the bin or take it home."

"Keeping the streets and open areas clean is a key priority for the council. That's why, for example, we have just set up a special four-person environment team with Kier Harlow to tackle particular litter or graffiti problems as they arise."

Don't forget to sow seeds of safety in your garden

EVER thought a flowerpot would put you in hospital? According to a recent report from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents, the humble flowerpot causes around 5,300 garden-related injuries every year!

Gardening has long been known to be extremely therapeutic and relaxing, benefiting millions of people. A good weekend in the garden is to be recommended but it is also important to remember it is a form of exercise.

It may sound strange but jumping into a vigorous gardening session is the same as an athlete going straight into competition from a break. Remember to warm up before you dive in as it's easy to cause a sprain or strain by simply not getting your body ready. It seems that hospital figures back up this research with a recent spike in gardening related admittances at Princess Alexandra Hospital. Around 10 per cent of cases treated over the past couple of hot weekends were down to injuries sustained in the garden and this is expected to rise over the long Easter weekend.

The ROSPA advise that many of us see our garden as a place of rest and relaxation and perhaps that's why so many accidents happen there. Research has shown that a whopping 87,000 people are injured actively gardening or carrying out DIY jobs in the garden in the UK alone.

Top 10 gardening injuries in the UK

- 1 Lawn mowers (6,500)
- 2 Flowerpots (5,300)
- 3 Secateurs and pruners (4,400)
- 4 Spades (3,600)
- 5 Electric hedgetrimmers (3,100)
- 6 Plant tubs and troughs (2,800)
- 7 Shears (2,100)
- 8 Garden forks (2,000)
- 9 Hoses and sprinklers (1,900)
- 10 Garden canes and sticks (1,800)

Simple measures such as putting on gloves could prevent many of the injuries, along with wearing strong shoes and trousers when mowing the lawn rather than shorts and sandals. Don't forget, chemicals should be stored out of sight and out of reach of children and tools should always be tidied away after use. This can prevent any slips or trips over items that have been left lying around.

And always make sure that you are wearing the correct personal protective equipment to avoid an injury when working in the garden. This is particularly important when using mowers, strimmers and hedge-trimmers.

We cannot be blamed for wanting to spend some quality time outdoors, soaking up the sunshine while we indulge in some long-awaited garden maintenance. But what many people don't understand is that we never seem to associate gardening with danger - which has been branded as the most dangerous thing of all!

'Park ban' sex pest avoids jail sentence

High Sheriff's high praise for town's advice bureau staff

STAFF at the Harlow Citizens' Advice Bureau are celebrating after winning a High Sheriff award for their work in the community.

The organisation, which provides free advice and information on a wide range of issues, won the High Sheriff's Cup in recognition of their efforts to raise awareness of the many schemes designed to ease the financial burden on the poor and needy. A panel working with the High Sheriff of Essex, Rosemary Ruggles-Brise, described the work of Harlow CAB as "an extremely proactive project which warranted greater recognition."

The group also received £950 to continue a scam-busting awareness project among the elderly and vulnerable adults.

A total of 68 community projects, charities and individuals from across Essex received awards, winning certificates and grants totalling £28,162.

Local groups to receive awards were Friends of Harlow Young People (£966 to develop a photography programme for young people), Catch 22 (£1,000 to run a healthy eating course for disadvantaged young people in Harlow and Epping Forest) and Home Start Epping Forest (£500 towards the cost of providing home visiting support to parents with young children).

Paying tribute to all the winners, Ms Ruggles-Brise said "There is often a lot of talk about frontline services, but it is important to remember the work being done behind the scenes by voluntary and community organisations and volunteers who all play a valuable role in reducing crime and anti-social behaviour and help to make our communities safer places to live."

A MAN who breached a court order banning him from public parks after he offered a boy £20 to have sex has been spared jail for a third time.

Wayne Challis (52), of Crown Close, Sheering, was made the subject of the sexual offences order in 2009 when the offence took place.

But in May 2010 Challis breached the order by going to Pishiobury Park at Sawbridge-worth. He was taken back to court and given a suspended prison sentence.

Then, in October last year, he appeared in court for breaching the order a second time after he had been seen crouching in bushes near public toilets in Harlow Town Park.

He admitted the offence but judge Anthony Goldstraub deferred sentence for six months, telling Challis he would not immediately lose his liberty when the case returned to court if he continued his rehabilitation.

He described Challis at the time as "an intractable case".

Challis returned to Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday when the judge honoured his side of the deal made back in October.

The judge was told Challis had not committed any further breaches

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

of the prevention order, had continued to take his medication and had been diligent in seeing his probation officer.

Francis Lloyd, representing Challis, said: "He has conducted himself impeccably."

Challis was given a 12-month conditional discharge after Mr Lloyd successfully argued that Challis had been under a community order for the past three years.

The order banning Challis from going into any park where the public might be present remains in force.

The court was told that back in March 2009 Challis was convicted for causing or inciting prostitution. He offered a 15-year-old boy money for sexual intercourse which did not happen.

Challis, who is unemployed, was described as a sad and lonely individual with few friends and for whom going to the park was one of the few things he enjoyed.

After he breached the order for the second time it had been hammered home to him the need to stay away from the park and he had not returned there since his arrest.

Police hunt pair who stole elderly couple's jewellery

DETECTIVES investigating a burglary at the home of an elderly couple in Harlow have produced an e-fit image of a man they want to question.

Two men called at the house in Little Brays last Wednesday afternoon and managed to persuade the occupants to let them in. They then stole a small amount of jewellery and cash.

Detective Constable Scott Tarling said: "We're hoping someone can identify these two men, especially the one whose e-fit we have released after conducting an interview with the elderly couple."

He added: "We would once again urge people not to let strangers into their house and not to converse with them on the doorstep unless they have viable and confirmed identification."

Both men are described as white and one spoke in an Irish accent.

Anyone with information should call Harlow police on 101.

Village businesses show team spirit for Midnight Walk

A GROUP of businesses in Sheering are the latest to sign up for this year's St Clare Hospice Midnight Walk.

Staff at Ellie's Brunch, Sheering newsagents, Joseph Smith hair design and Fuller's butchers are busy seeking sponsorship from friends and customers to support the annual Star-backed fundraiser, which takes place on Saturday, June 16.

Lorraine Brown, who works at Ellie's Brunch, is a long-time supporter of the Hastingwood hospice and in 2010 raised £8,000 by taking part in the Great Wall of China trek. She is now looking forward to the Midnight Walk.

"It's one of those events where we can all get together and it's great raising money for a great cause," she said. "We get a good response and get good support from the village."

All the team members will be wearing pink and some are already wearing their pink T-shirts at work to help promote the event and boost their sponsorship totals.

Midnight Walk organiser Tracy Stratford said: "The Midnight Walk has only been launched for little over a month but we are absolutely delighted that more than 650 people have already registered to show their support for the hospice."

"I am very grateful to the team from Sheering for taking part. It just shows that whether you are with work colleagues, friends or family, you can all get together to have a fun night out whilst raising money for such a valuable community service.

"So come on, find some willing walkers and sign up your team today! You'll have a fabulous night doing it in the dark for a much loved local cause."

The walk, which has now become the biggest night-time fundraising event in Harlow, follows a 10km route around the town, starting and finishing at the Water Gardens.

Registration costs £15 per person. Before the start of the walk there will be on-stage entertainment and everyone taking part will receive a goodie bag.

Midnight Walk

To register online, visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk/midnight. To be sent a registration form, call (01279) 773750 or email fund@stclarehospice.org.uk

Organisers are hoping that at least 1,350 people will sign up to help raise £90,000, which will be used to fund the care and support services the hospice provides.

Pedestrian killed in road accident was Harlow OAP

A PEDESTRIAN killed in a hit-and-run accident has been identified as a retired factory worker from Harlow.

Henry Bailey (79) suffered multiple injuries after he was struck by a vehicle as he walked along an unlit stretch of the A120 Standon Road at Little Hadham at 11pm last Tuesday.

Mr Bailey, of Dunstons, was pronounced dead at the scene despite efforts by paramedics to save him.

Police say the alarm was raised by another motorist who is believed to have followed the vehicle involved in the accident to the A10 after spotting its damaged windscreen.

Officers are appealing for witnesses or information and are particularly keen to hear from anyone who may have seen Mr Bailey walking along the A120.

It is not known whether he was on his own. Police have yet to disclose details of where he had spent the evening or where he was heading at the time of the incident.

Anyone with information is urged to call investigating officer PC Kevin Sloan on the non-emergency number, 101.

An inquest into Mr Bailey's death has been opened by Herts coroner Edward Thomas and adjourned to a later date.

● A 50-year-old man from Buntingford has been arrested in connection with the hit-and-run and bailed until June 13. He was detained on suspicion of failing to stop after an accident.

Town bids for slice of Portas Pilot funding

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW traders could be in line for a share of £1m after bidding to become part of a Government-backed project aimed at reviving the fortunes of Britain's ailing high streets.

Harlow Town Partnership is hoping to secure money from a funding pot proposed as part of an ambitious new scheme thought up by retail guru and self-styled 'Queen of Shops' Mary Portas.

The scheme offers towns the chance to apply for one of 12 grants of up to £100,000 to breathe new life into their central shopping districts.

Ms Portas will also be on hand to advise traders how to spend the cash and test out business-boosting ideas published in her recent independent review of the UK's retail decline.

According to Government guidelines, the pilot bids – which are expected to be in their hundreds – will be judged on their ability to demonstrate a joint commitment between local groups to make a "transformational vision" for their high street a reality.

Harlow Council's chief operating officer Graham Branchett said he felt Harlow had a strong case for becoming a Portas Pilot.

"The Town Centre Partnership has put forward a really strong case that effectively draws together everyone with an interest in Harlow's renewal," he said.

"With an enviable location just 25 miles from London offering great road, rail and air links, Harlow is perfectly placed to grow as a retail centre."

"The creation of an Enterprise Zone and the availability of a skilled and flexible workforce combine to make us a town that is attracting increasing interest from investors."

"The status of being a Portas Pilot would send the signal that Harlow is a thriving centre for retail business with all the major partners in the area fully behind a clear and far-reaching plan for the town's regeneration."

Harlow and District Chamber of Commerce general manager Ian Hudson said the most effective way of rejuvenating Harlow's high street would be to attract more independent traders.

"It is important that we fill our empty units with independent shops and businesses so that Harlow has something different to offer rather than fronting the same chain shops that can be found everywhere," he said.

"I welcome the Harlow pilot bid and think anything that attracts more businesses into the town is a good thing."

Poor and vulnerable are the losers in millionaires' budget

SIR, Robert Halfon heaped lavish praise on a budget "for lower earners and hard-working people, for jobs and for the most vulnerable" (Star, March 22). Most headlines saw it as a budget for millionaires by millionaires!

In scrapping the 50p top rate of tax, 300,000 high earners gain an extra £10K a year while 14,000 millionaires each save £42,500.

Mr. Halfon plaintively says the 50p rate raised almost no revenue. Isn't this a good reason for clamping down on tax evasion? But no, instead the Government rewards the very rich when the rest of us would be accused of fraud. Anyway, what will stop those on a 45p rate also avoiding tax?

Usually, governments tax the rich to pay for pensions. Now the reverse is true. The coalition chose to help the richest at the expense of pensioners in an enormous stealth tax, disguised as a simplification, in an outrageous assault on pensioners. It's effectively a tax increase on the over 65s. Better hang on tightly to bus passes!

Who are the other losers? Where is the help for the most vulnerable or lower earners?

A third of all adults gain no benefit as they earn too little to pay tax – the poorest, hard-working families. There's nothing for the unemployed, especially the million young unemployed, or those working too few hours. Deprived areas are threatened with cuts in regional pay, ensuring a further loss to their local economy. The most vulnerable, already confronted by £18bn in benefit cuts, are now facing an extra £10bn welfare cuts. So much for "we're all in it together".

There is no attempt to stimulate the economy or boost investment and demand. It relies on trickle-down economics where the Government increases rewards for the richest in the vain hope that it trickles down to increase jobs at the bottom. It didn't work for Thatcher in the boom years let alone now in a recession. After two years in power, the economy has flattened, but the budget fails to address the lack of growth.

No prizes for guessing who had the most access to the intimate little dinner parties at No.10 before this budget was set.

Cllr Jean Clark (Labour)
School Lane, Harlow

Time politicians started living in the real world

SIR, Robert Halfon's vision must be blurred by all the cheap booze in the House of Commons (Letters, March 29).

He states that a Harlow family earning £20,000 will be better off by £25-£36 a month from this month and that we can spend that extra money on what we want.

Taking my family as an example, my wife and I both work full-time and have two children under 12, but we are penalised because we earn over £26,000 a year so we now lose our £42 tax credits per month as the tax credits change in April.

He also failed to mention everyday bills that have gone up such as gas, electric, rent, food shopping and petrol, which Mr Halfon did manage to get frozen but has since risen at least 5p a litre.

So, Mr Halfon, I think it's time all you politicians

Town overwhelmed by litter

SIR, Cutting through the politics of the proposal for a "clean and green" deal to clean up the town, I for one cannot wait.

Our lovely town is now overwhelmed with litter, some of it so old that English Heritage might like to consider a proposal for listing! As fast as it is cleared up it's back again so, whilst the proposed spring clean this Saturday is a good idea and will make us feel better, it will not solve the deep-seated problem. Why do people do it? They know it is anti-social and criminal yet they continue to spoil our lovely town.

The issue of broken glass on the cycle tracks must also be tackled. There is a view that suggests that this is a more serious crime than simple littering as it is clearly done with intent to endanger. People on mobility scooters, in wheelchairs and on bicycles are all put at risk, as are dogs yet we do not read of any arrests or convictions.

I have spent a few hours over the past week or so clearing litter in my area, litter that has been annoying me for many months. It wasn't easy but it was very satisfying.

Apart from the usual stuff – food wrappers, cans and bottles – I found four estate agent boards and a temporary roadworks sign belong to the National Grid. I'm grateful to Kier Harlow for taking them away, and finishing what I had started next to Willowfield Tower.

Just along the road, on the site of the former Passmores School, the litter is building up. As this is private property, maybe someone from Essex County Council could see to it that the litter there is cleared.

started living in the real world instead of feeding off taxpayers. You are trying to pull the wool over people's eyes to say how better off they will be when, in fact, they won't.

I think it's time politicians start living on normal people's income to see how they would cope.

Vince Reyland
address supplied

Losses outweigh the gains

SIR, At a recent full council meeting Cllr Tony Hall questioned the suggestion that people earning £20,000 would lose £253 in the budget, as cited by Labour Parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride in the Star.

He seems to have got the impression that the increase in the personal allowances in the budget was the only measure that impacts on Harlow families. He is, of course, mistaken as this is outweighed by cuts to tax credits, higher petrol duty and VAT increases.

When taking all the measures together, a family with children earning just £20,000 does indeed lose £253 a year from this month.

In addition, pensioners who pay tax will be hit by the freezing of age related allowances which, when taking inflation into account, will result in a real terms cut.

Cllr Rod Truan (Labour)
High Street, Old Harlow

Plenty of questions but Labour has no answers

SIR, The letter from Labour election candidate Phil Waite (Star, March 29) was the usual mishmash of words and soundbites designed to alarm, mixing events of last year and proposals for next year in a "social media storm", whatever that is.

What he failed to elucidate, however, is what Labour would do if they were ever allowed to run the council again?

What would they do to improve services, to promote employment and provide more housing?

And just as important, what would they not do to pay for their agenda? Answers came there none.

Simon Carter
Conservative Party candidate, Church Langley

Do more to help people buy a home where they grew up

SIR, I have to agree with the letters from people who are struggling to get on the housing ladder or to even put a roof over their heads.

I have to add that just because my grandparents and parents were able to rent a council property does not mean I should be able too, but I should at least have the opportunity to buy a property in the town where I grew up and live.

Having jumped through the hoops of buying a property in Harlow, I know all about these so-called offers and with stamp duty due to go back on for first-time buyers it is only going to get worse.

Part-buy part-rent schemes on new builds are barely affordable for first-time buyers living and working in Harlow, especially those who have been privately renting, living at home or are on a low income. Not everyone has a guarantor to rent a private flat, but why should this matter when agencies take six weeks rent as a deposit anyway?

Unless the young people of Harlow actually get sensible help to get on the property ladder, more and more people and families will need council housing. Building homes which start at £180,000 is not sensible, it is encouraging young people to buy half of a house they will probably never be able to afford or sell for a profit to pay back the deposit they had to borrow from the developers or Government!

We need sensible housing solutions and deposit schemes for the people and families who live and work in Harlow so that we can afford to buy houses in the town we live in and, for many of us, where we grew up.

J.M. Gillespie

Why has Mark Hall lost the good reputation it once had?

SIR, I was saddened to read Mark Hall School described by one disgruntled parent as "the worst school in the town" (Star, March 22).

Mark Hall is the longest-established secondary school in Harlow and once had such a good reputation. Both my sons went there and I was always happy with the standard of teaching and the whole ethos of the school.

For years it notched up the town's highest level of GCSE passes at grades A-C. My younger son went on to gain a good degree from a London university and I know some of his contemporaries at Mark Hall went on to achieve even greater academic success.

What's gone wrong?

Mrs B. Kent
Vicarage Wood, Harlow

There's no incentive to work

SIR, I completely empathise with Clare Harrison (Letters, March 22) and Mrs A. Davison's daughter (Letters, March 29). I too am in this ridiculous situation of not being able to afford a deposit for my own flat yet have been placed in band four on the waiting list.

I have worked without a break since the age of 14, yet despite this I am being penalised against renting a council property.

Where is the incentive to work these days when you can so easily have everything handed to you on a plate?

Debt burden will be £362m

SIR, Since I wrote two weeks ago I have been challenged about the new settlement of debt that the Government has imposed upon the housing revenue account and the tenants of previously housing debt-free Harlow Council.

The situation is much worse than I feared in my initial letter. Harlow tenants will have to pay £362m over the next 30 years when all the interest and repayment amounts are included.

That's not a figure plucked from the air but from Harlow Council's financial documentation.

Each and every tenant of Harlow will be paying their share of this debt burden. With approximately 10,000 tenants, I leave the amount payable by each household to the arithmetic of your readers.

Well done to the Tories, who as ever know everything about how to look after the very rich and very little about how to look after everyone else.

Fun way to support hospice

SAINT NICHOLAS Budding market traders set up stall for the day to help fund special care for children with life-limiting conditions.

Pupils at the school in Hobbs Cross Road, Old Harlow, held a fundraising bazaar in aid of the Haven House Children's Hospice in Woodford Green.

Each class was responsible for choosing and organising their own stalls, which ranged from a cake stand to a tombola.

The infants also did their bit for the cause after pupils made and decorated eggs for an Easter competition.

A school spokesperson said: "The bazaar event is held annually and the pupils thoroughly enjoy organising it. "We raised a brilliant £780 altogether and great fun was had by all."

Olympic-themed relay is an exercise in fundraising

PEAR TREE MEAD Sporty youngsters at the Harlow primary went the distance for charity when they took part in a fundraising run for Sport Relief.

The pupils were split into teams representing different countries for the Olympics-themed event, which saw them running relay laps of the school field.

They topped up their total with a cake sale and raffle to raise £700.

Teacher and event organiser Laura Tyler said: "The children were brilliant; they were really excited to be raising money for charity and put in a huge amount of effort."

"We had lovely weather and it was great for them to get outside and do some exercise. They got a lot out of the day."

After-school pet care club proves very popular

MILWARDS PRIMARY: Dedicated animal lovers have been putting in a few extra hours after school to learn about being responsible pet owners.

Throughout their last term pupils at the Paringdon Road school have stayed behind one evening a week to take part in the pet care club run by the Wood Green animal charity.

Meeting a whole host of furry friends including rabbits, cats and dogs, the youngsters have learnt about the importance of practices such as neutering, worming and inoculating their pets to ensure they remain happy and healthy.

Emma Hudgell, education officer for Wood Green, said: "Everybody loved the pet care club and the school has been extremely supportive. "The children seemed to particularly enjoy meeting our animals and were all really good at handling them."

She added: "We are now looking for other Harlow schools to host some of our pet care clubs and would encourage them to get in touch."

HAVE you ever been left disorientated while trying to find an address in Harlow?

According to regular Nostalgia contributor and local historian Ron Bill, there is a reason for this.

"Did you know Harlow remains one of the few towns, if not the only one, in which house numbers run consecutively rather than divided between odds and evens?" he says.

"Prior to the completion of the first Harlow Development Corporation housing area at Chippingfield in 1949, it was agreed that the Post Office would number housing areas to conform to the pattern of a 'postman walk'.

"As each area was planned and named, the development corporation would send a copy of the layout plan to the Post Office which would devise the most efficient route for the postman's walk and return the plan to HDC. They in turn made copies available to the police, ambulance, fire service and local trades and sold copies to the public."

Ron says that although all the corporation housing areas initially featured house number indication boards, over the years many have been lost and not replaced - leading to confusion around some of the estates.

He added: "If you're lost and desperately looking for a house number, the answer is to pretend you're a postman!"

PUPILS at St Mark's School in the early 1980s may be able to answer some questions about the next Theatre Van picture in our ongoing series. This photograph, again sourced from the Harlow Museum archives, shows a group of pupils engrossed by what appears to be a dotted painting.

Local history officer David Devine said: "I'm afraid I can't tell you much about this picture other than the information on the copy. "It advises that it is Theatre Van at St Mark School in 1983. It would be very interesting to hear from anyone who either remembers the visit or was conducting the visit and what it was all about."

Can you unravel this latest Theatre Van mystery? If so, write to Nostalgia 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Friends reunited – thanks to the Star

AFTER 15 years of trying to get back in touch with each other, two long-term friends have finally been reunited – thanks to Nostalgia.

After a lengthy search for childhood friend Sally Ann Leese, Thelma Aspdon approached Nostalgia to see if we could lend a hand. And following an appeal in the paper a couple of weeks ago, we are pleased to report the pair are back in touch.

Sally said she first heard that Thelma had made the request from a friend. "A couple of people still living in Harlow got in touch with me to say they'd seen my name in the paper," she explained.

"It was a really nice surprise. I have tried on a few occasions to get back in touch with Thelma over the years but to no avail. The last time I saw her, my daughter was three years old – she's 18 now!"

The pair first met when they were pupils at St John's School in Epping but lost touch when they both moved about over the years.

"We both got married and were moving about a lot and just lost contact," said Sally. "I had a few letters sent to what I thought was her address returned and didn't know what happened. It wasn't as easy to stay in touch in those days without the internet."

Sally added: "It has been a lovely surprise, though, and I want to thank the Star for putting me back in touch with my friend."

1987 25 years ago in the Harlow Star

Tight security arrangements have been drawn up for the Princess of Wales' visit to Epping. Passes have been issued to everyone planning to attend the opening of the Spencer Croft Mental Handicap Unit, named after the Princess. Princess Diana is due to travel to Epping by helicopter.

As another rag week comes to end, Harlow College students have reportedly been busy busking, fun running and helping 'damsels in distress' to raise money for charity. To finish off the fundraiser they arrived at college with empty stomachs to put them in good stead for a sponsored porridge-eating contest.

Harlow MP Jerry Hayes said 'no' to capital punishment in this week's House of Commons vote. Mr Hayes told the Star before the debate that he would vote against the death penalty despite having good reason to favour hanging after the killer of his murdered grandfather was set free after serving just eight years of a life sentence.

Angry residents in Wedhey are asking the council not to build a new town leisure complex almost on their back doorsteps. They said they feared life would be made unbearable by the noise, mess and extra people attracted to the centre.

True taste of Italy served with Gusto

ITALIAN JOB: Restaurant owners Steve and Anne-Marie Taylor

GASTRONAUTS with a taste for authentic Italian cuisine can now get their pasta fix at a vibrant new restaurant in Old Harlow.

The Gables may be no more but long-term owners and experienced restaurateurs Steve and Anne-Marie Taylor have served up an exciting new project in its place – chic new eatery Gusto.

With a mouthwatering menu inspired by the rustic home cooking of head chef Bruno Giovanni Mella's grandmother, the Fore Street restaurant has been transformed inside and out to attract customers looking for a more informal – and affordable – dining experience.

Anne-Marie said the bold changes were already reaping dividends just days after their grand re-opening. "We had a fantastic opening night last week and the bookings have continued to come in ever since," she said. "The new menu has become so popular that we're now in a position where we're having to turn people away on busy nights."

"We wanted to move away from the special occasion fine-dining of The Gables and become a place where local people feel at home and want to return to time and time again."

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

With an emphasis on top-quality ingredients and freshly-prepared food, Gusto – which is Italian for flavour – serves a wide range of classic dishes alongside a selection of lesser-known house specialities.

Pasta virgins can tuck into Spaghetti con Polpetta (slow-cooked homemade meatballs in Napoli sauce with roasted vegetables and garlic) while more adventurous foodies can sample the likes of Saltimbocca alla Romano (sauteed veal medallions with fresh sage, Parma ham and white wine).

Head chef Bruno, who has more than 30 years' experience working in restaurants across the globe, said his menu had been designed to cater for all palates.

"The key is to keep things relatively simple and use fantastic, fresh ingredients," he said. "These dishes are the kind of thing you could expect to see served up on the dinner table in an Italian home – simple, rustic and delicious."

The restaurant also offers a new lunchtime express menu for busy workers, with paninis, lighter pasta dishes and Italian coffee served between 11am and 2pm.

Co-owner Steve added: "We've always loved Italian food and have travelled extensively in Italy. Hopefully our passion for the food and culture shines through in the new restaurant."

Gusto is open Tuesday-Friday for lunch and dinner, Saturday evenings and Sunday lunchtimes. For more information or to book a table, call (01279) 427108 or log on to www.gustoatgables.co.uk.

BUSINESS BRIEFING

By Ian Hudson
General Manager
Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce

HARLOW & District Chamber of Commerce has got some exciting events coming up for members over the course of the next month.

On April 26 we are hosting three business briefings at Harlow College from 5-7pm. Each will focus on a different topic, with the sessions covering negotiation skills, time management and using Twitter to boost business.

To reserve a place, visit our website at www.harlowchamber.co.uk.

The following day (April 27) we are putting on a corporate social responsibility workshop in conjunction with Kier Harlow. Larger employers in the town are being invited to meet people from all sectors to look at how they can 'give something back' to the town.

Meanwhile, many chamber members continue to flourish, including GWC Chartered Accountants who are continuing to invest in training apprentices.

They have just recruited a new trainee, Charlie Stokes, and will be looking to recruit a further trainee in the summer. Their staff also continue to partake in charity fundraising, with Rosee Golding and Nat Logan currently preparing to run the London Marathon in aid of the Children With Cancer charity.

Harlow firm Alistage supplied equipment for BBC Sport Relief, providing the main stage used in the televised fundraiser as well as a large Alidome structure together with crowd barriers set up in Horse Guards Parade for the Sport Relief London Mile.

Meanwhile, businesses struggling to afford a long-term HR solution can take advantage of Barbara Dutton's occupational health clinics taking place in Harlow on April 26 and May 17.

The workshops can help firms keep on the right side of the law in respect of employees' rights and health and safety in the workplace. For more information or to book a place, call Barbara on (01279) 438385.

For more information on Harlow Chamber of Commerce, log on to www.harlowchamber.co.uk or call Ian Hudson on (01279) 271104.

Business exhibition to showcase the work of eco-friendly companies

ORGANISERS of this year's Star-backed Harlow Business Exhibition have shown their green credentials by inviting a number of eco-friendly firms to take part in the annual showcase.

A 'green corridor' will be incorporated into the networking event on June 12, giving environmentally-friendly organisations the opportunity to show off their products.

Firms set to attend the exhibition at The Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych include Eco Service (UK) Ltd, Carbon Friendly Lighting, Environmental Population, adneXusm, Evalu8 Transport Innovations, Allseasons Landscaping and MS Electronics.

HBE co-founder Mick Granger said the green area illustrated the exhibition's dedication to corporate social responsibility.

"It is open to anybody in any industry sector regardless of their size," he said. "Our commitment to corporate social responsibility continues and as well as supporting this year's charity of choice Mike's Den – we also wanted to introduce a green corridor where environmentally-friendly companies could exhibit. "The green corridor idea has been very well received and we very much look forward to helping promote this area on the day."

With just 17 stands still available, local firms interested in promoting their business at the event are being urged to sign up as soon as possible. For more information, log on to www.harlowbusinessexhibition.co.uk or contact the events team on (01279) 408669.

Keep up to date with legislation

LOCAL firms can get up to speed on recent changes to the law that could impact upon their business at a corporate workshop next month.

Hosted by Nockolds LLP Solicitors, the drop-in briefing will cover some of the key issues facing companies in 2012 and give local business leaders the chance to quiz experienced lawyers.

Topics on the agenda will include pension reform, workplace disputes, property problems, debt collection issues, changes in legislation governing the use of company cars and the implications of the Bribery Act.

A Nockolds spokeswoman said: "Often companies lack the time to stay abreast of the legal updates and changes that affect their businesses until they need to take action, and then it can be too late."

"We wanted to give local firms the chance to attend a drop-in business briefing where they can learn more about the updates relevant to their business and have access to experienced solicitors who can answer those burning questions."

The workshop will take place on Thursday, May 3 at The Park Inn Hotel on Southern Way.

For more information, contact the marketing team at marketing@nockolds.co.uk.

"SHED"

Jim "shed" Shepherd passed away peacefully on Sunday 25th March 2012 following a short illness. During his lifetime, Jim was always there as a friend to everyone he knew and in later life he dedicated himself to his beloved wife June.

Say a prayer, shed a tear but don't grieve for Jim, just celebrate the life of a wonderful husband to June, father to Julie, grandfather to Leigh and Simon and great grandfather to Daisy.

R.I.P Big Man, you'll be greatly missed but never ever forgotten.

Jim's funeral service will be held at Parndon Wood Crematorium on Thursday 12th April 2012 at 10.45am.

ALL welcome to attend.

Flowers from close family only please. Donations, if desired, made payable to "Cancer Research UK" and sent c/o Co-operative Funeralcare, 20 High Street, Old Harlow, Essex, CM17 0DW. Telephone 01279 441444

TAYA-MAE STEVENS

Born 20th March 2012.

Born asleep in our arms, your soft skin on ours. We waited to meet you, but you couldn't stay. In our hearts & thoughts always.

Mummy, Daddy, your Sisters and Brothers Nannys and Grandads and Family XXX

Funeral service will take place at Parndon Wood Crematorium Chapel on Tuesday 10th April 2012 at 1.00pm followed by burial.

Immediate family flowers only please, but donations if desired, made payable to either "Sands" or "Maternity Ward Trust Fund PAH" and sent c/o Daniel Robinson & Sons, Wych Elm, Harlow CM20 1QP Tel: 01279 426990.

10k runners raise £15k for hospice

HUNDREDS of runners raised thousands of pounds for St Clare Hospice when they took part in the annual 10k run on Sunday.

More than 450 lined up for the start of the race, which followed a country route beginning and ending at the hospice in Hastingwood.

There was success for the Thurrock Harriers in both the men's and women's races.

Alex Houghton, above right, completed the course in a time of 34mins 11secs while Tracy Swindell, below right, won the women's event in 39mins 08secs. Both were taking part in the race for the first time.

Disabled athlete Richard Chiassaro, below, of Seymours Road, Harlow, finished first in the wheelchair race despite crashing after losing control on a bend. It is the second time he has won the title.

Tracy Stratford, events fundraiser for St Clare, said the run had become a favourite on the hospice calendar.

"To have so many runners waiting in the hospice grounds in good spirits before setting off just down the road is a wonderful sight," she said.

"And raising in the region of £15,000 is vitally important as we continue to pay for specialist care being provided to hundreds of local people
each year."

Whose gang are you in?

WE already know that dolphins are some of the brainiest animals on the planet - but it turns out they are even more like humans than we thought.

Researchers studying bottlenose dolphins in Australia have discovered that the males live in gangs to provide better protection for females and their young. By travelling in close-knit groups, they have better odds of fighting off rival gangs and predators like sharks.

Until now only humans and elephants were known to live in complex social groups. The study also found that male dolphins live in an open society and can belong to around three separate groups at the same time. When one gang encounters another they decide if the new dolphins will be treated friends or enemies . . . and will either join forces or fight each other.

Occasionally the males were even seen to switch groups and join a rival gang they meet on their travels.

Richard Connor, a biology professor who has studied bottlenose dolphins for more than 20 years, described male dolphins' social lives as intense.

"It seems there is constant drama," he told reporters. "I have often thought, as I watched their complicated alliance relationships, that their social lives would be mentally and physically exhausting. I'm glad I'm not a dolphin!"

Enjoy a spring break in the English countryside

'Three nights for two' offer with Farm Stay Anglia

FARM Stay offer graded bed and breakfast accommodation in spacious farmhouses and self catering holidays in tastefully converted barns and cottages.

There are more than 200 properties to choose from in beautiful rural and coastal locations throughout East Anglia where guests will enjoy a warm welcome with traditional farmhouse hospitality.

Farm Stay is ideal for relaxing holidays, short breaks and family holidays, and is perfect for those wishing to explore the countryside.

A Farm Stay break is also perfect for families and groups wishing to holiday together. Facilities for children can include play areas, games rooms, tennis and swimming pools. Some farms will accept dogs by arrangement.

Only the farms listed in the panel are participating in the 3-nights-for-2 offer. To take advantage of this offer, book direct with the farm – details on their website.

Please mention the Harlow Star 3-for-2 offer when making an enquiry or booking.

For bed and breakfast accommodation, the offer is based on two people sharing. For self catering, it will be based on the sleeping capacity of property booked.

The offer is valid Monday-Thursday only subject to availability, and excludes the Easter school holiday period. The offer must be taken by May 24, 2012.

All additional nights must be paid for in full.

EASTER HOLIDAYS... 2012

Your local guide of where to go and what to do

EASTER is just round the corner and hopefully we'll be spoiled with some lovely spring weather when we can get out and about with friends and family. Whether you're staying at home or planning a few days away this Easter, there is a wealth of events taking place in the local area.

If you're looking for an alternative to the TV and games console, or perhaps you need distraction from the chocolate mountain that you're working your way through, why not take part in an Easter Egg Trail at Hatfield Forest? A good walk with chocolate at the end of it is surely what Easter is all about? The trails are held between April 2 and 7, from 11am until 3pm. Simply meet at the Easter gazebo near the café, follow the clues around a 45 minute trail in the forest and claim a yummy chocolate treat at the end! The trails are suitable for groups and dogs on a lead are welcome. Cost is £2 per child. For more information contact Fiona Harrower on (01279) 870 678. Many other National Trust properties are running special Easter events over the holidays so take a look at what's on locally at www.nationaltrust.org.uk

Or how about taking part in the Family Easter Egg Hunt, at Pishiobury Park in Sawbridgeworth? Children will love this fantastic day out on April 3 when they can follow the trail around the garden, find the clues and win a prize! Why not take a picnic and make a day of it? For more information contact (0300)3300770.

If the weather is more conducive to staying indoors this Easter, why not get crafty and enjoy some homemade fun with the kids? Decorating eggs is always popular and all you need are boiled eggs and paint! You can take it a step further by adding attractive extras such as ribbons and glitter. The only limit is your imagination.

Or how about some good old fashioned baking? Not only will children enjoy helping to create some delicious treats in the kitchen, but the end results can be enjoyed by everyone. Even very young children can help stir the mixture, or cut cookies out and will love eating something they have helped make.

Chance for those with a Dream to perform

THE worlds of mortals and faeries are set to collide on stage in a spectacular new production of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream this summer – and you could be part of the magic.

Harlow Theatre Company is looking for aspiring actors to take key roles in their enchanting adaptation of the Bard's otherworldly comedy, with the first in a series of open auditions being held at Roydon Village Hall next Wednesday evening (April 11).

HTC spokesman Jim Thompson said: "This is going to be a show that is very reliant on look. It will have a specific style and energy to it and therefore all of the performers will need to be physically capable.

"There will be a big cast required, with ages ranging from eight to over-50, giving plenty of actors the chance to be part of what HTC hopes to be a very magical production."

For more information on the parts available, visit the group's website at www.harlowtheatrecompany.org.uk.

Playhouse to stage triple bill of drama

By CHRIS MOSS

A NEW season of captivating dramas from one of the UK's most renowned touring companies opens at Harlow Playhouse later this month.

Ian Dickens Productions will be bringing three very different works to the theatre, starting with Ivan Menchell's uplifting comedy The Cemetery Club from April 18-21.

The play follows a group of female friends who visit the local cemetery every month to remember the good times but find their lives turned upside down when they meet a charismatic male widow.

A razor-sharp comedy with an all-star cast, it features Anne Charleston (Madge Bishop in Neighbours), Anita Harris, Shirley-Anne Field and Peter Ellis (Inspector Brownlow in The Bill).

The programme then continues the following week with Ron Aldridge's supernatural chiller Haunted, which runs from April 25-28.

A nightmare journey through the mind of a killer who has been acquitted of a double murder, the darkly comic thriller stars Peter Amory (Chris Tate in Emmerdale) and

ANNE CHARLESTON

PETER ELLIS

ANITA HARRIS

SHIRLEY-ANNE FIELD

KEITH DRINKEL

Joanna Heywood (Grace & Favour).

The season is then rounded off with a lavish new production of Oscar Wilde's timeless classic The Importance of Being Earnest from May 2-5.

Rightly hailed as one of theatre's greatest comic masterpieces, the play follows the double-lives led by friends Jack and Algernon, which inevitably land them in trouble with their sweethearts Gwendolyn and Cecily.

The show will feature a spectacular set and costumes, with a cast that includes Coronation Street actor Keith Drinkel.

Producer and director Ian Dickens said: "There's something for everyone in the season, some scary moments with laughs along the way in Haunted, gentle comedy in

The Cemetery Club and a special production of The Importance of Being Earnest for Harlow.

"What is special in live theatre is the relationship between the actors and the audiences. On the first night of each production we'll be offering opportunities for audience members to meet and ask questions of the actors."

Playhouse manager Scott Ramsay added: "This theatre was originally a popular touring venue for drama but that was eroded over time.

"We've been slowly re-establishing our drama offer over the last two years and presenting this drama season is a huge leap forward. We're doing this in response to people telling us they would like to see more drama at The Playhouse, and also to support audience development in the area."

Tickets for each play cost £15.50 (£13.50 concessions) but theatre-lovers can take advantage of the three-for-two Drama Ticket offer which gives access to all three plays for the price of two.

Titanic steams back after a 3D makeover

TITANIC 3D certificate 12A, 3h14m

JAMES Cameron's mega-budget love story set aboard the doomed ocean liner was a phenomenon.

Buoyed by the on-screen chemistry of Leonardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet, Titanic sailed away with a record 11 Oscars and broke box office records.

To coincide with the centenary of the ship's ill-fated maiden voyage, Cameron has revisited his masterpiece and lovingly converted it to 3D.

Cameron has been at the forefront of expanding the boundaries of the increasingly fashionable format. At multiplexes and IMAX cinemas he has created some truly immersive experiences that soften the blow of inflated ticket prices and the inevitable discomfort of wearing the spectacles.

In the case of Titanic, that discomfort lasts for more than three hours but that's no matter. We're completely swept along by Cameron's vision, which uses a fictional blue diamond necklace known as The Heart Of The Ocean as the narrative glue between the present and past.

The film begins deep underwater with Brock Lovett (Bill Paxton) and his team of hi-tech treasure hunters scouring the submerged wreck. The search comes to nought until Brock meets 101-year-old survivor Rose DeWitt Bukater (Gloria Stuart).

Staring transfixed at a sketch of her younger self, Rose recalls her burgeoning romance with spirited artist Jack Dawson (DiCaprio) aboard the luxury liner.

Her jealous fiancé Cal Hockley (Billy Zane) schemes to drive a wedge between the sweethearts with the help of his valet, Spicer Lovejoy (David Warner), and Rose's snobbish, money-oriented mother (Frances Fisher).

But fate intervenes and passengers of all classes fight for their lives as the ship quickly takes on freezing water.

Titanic 3D is a feast for the senses and the heart, recalling the epic storytelling of British director David Lean and co, and cements Cameron's reputation as an action director par excellence but also as a master helmsman of delicately observed human drama.

The 3D is breathtaking; you can almost feel particles in the water brushing against your face as cameras glide through compartments.

And with all the technological advances of the past 15 years, the film still looks pristine and colours aren't dulled by the new format.

Indeed, the film is perfectly suited to it: water-logged corridors seem to stretch into the distance and our stomachs lurch with Jack and Rose as they cling to the stern, looking down as fellow passengers tumble to their doom.

Cameron hasn't plugged any of the plot holes and some dialogue is still cheesy but now, just as in 1998, we forgive him a multitude of sins.

BATTLESHIP certificate 12A, 2h11m

INSPIRED by the classic children's game of the same name, Battleship is a big-budget battle for planet Earth.

Naval officer Lieutenant Alex Hopper (Taylor Kitsch) is stationed on the Hawaiian islands with his older brother Stone Hopper (Alexander Skarsgård), who captains the USS Sampson. Alex is assigned to the USS John Paul Jones, captained by the universally feared Captain Shane (Liam Neeson) who just happens to be the deeply disapproving father of his beautiful fiancée, physical therapist Samantha Shane (Brooklyn Decker).

When an extraterrestrial race lands out at sea, the USS John Paul Jones and USS Sampson are scrambled into action. Petty Officer Cora Raikes (Rihanna), who is a weapon specialist with a sharp eye, joins Alex aboard his ship and together they take on the aliens with all guns blazing.

THE PIRATES! IN AN ADVENTURE WITH SCIENTISTS

The Pirate Captain (Hugh Grant) and his bungling group of seadogs – Pirate with Scarf (Martin Freeman), Pirate with Gout (Brendan Gleeson), Albino Pirate (Russell Tovey) and Surprisingly Curvaceous Pirate (Ashley Jensen) – are a laughing stock. Determined to prove he has what it takes to fly the Jolly Roger, The Pirate Captain sets out to capture a Bank of England treasure ship but inadvertently storms The Beagle and captures a young Charles Darwin (David Tennant) who leads the crew on a merry dance that might just end with the beleaguered Captain taking home the coveted Pirate Of The Year prize. But first they must venture to London without being spotted by Queen Victoria, who has declared war on all pirates who dare to sail around Britain's waters

THE HUNGER GAMES In a post-apocalyptic future, North America lies in ruins. In its place stands the autocratic nation of Panem, comprising the wealthy Capitol and 12 surrounding, poorer districts controlled by President Snow (Donald Sutherland). Every year, one boy and one girl are selected by lottery from each district to take part in The Hunger Games, a televised fight to the death. Katniss Everdeen (Jennifer Lawrence) replaces her younger sister Primrose (Willow Shields) as the female representative from District 12, competing alongside baker's son Peeta Mellark (Josh Hutcherson). Their alcohol-sodden mentor Haymitch Abernathy (Woody Harrelson) prepares the youngsters for competition against the other teenagers in a brutal and bloody test of strength and endurance.

>>>showing at Cineworld, Harlow & Empire, Bishop's Stortford

WRATH OF THE TITANS Perseus (Sam Worthington) returns to his fishing village with his young son, hoping to put his monster-slaying days behind him. But war looms because the humans have neglected the gods, weakening brothers Zeus (Liam Neeson), Hades (Ralph Fiennes) and Poseidon (Danny Huston). Consequently, the imprisoned Titans led by the gods' banished father Kronos are gaining in strength and will soon escape the cavernous dungeon prison of Tartarus. Zeus is betrayed by Hades and his godly son Ares (Edgar Ramirez), who have forged a pact with Kronos to retain their immortality once hell is unleashed upon the Earth. So Perseus answers the call to arms to rescue Zeus, slaying a menagerie of terrifying beasts with the help of feisty Queen Andromeda (Rosamund Pike) and Poseidon's demi-god offspring, Agenor (Toby Kebbell).

MIRROR MIRROR When the King (Sean Bean) is presumed dead, his second wife Queen Clementianna (Julia Roberts), seizes the throne and banishes her teenage stepdaughter Snow White (Lily Collins) to the forest where the young lady will be easy pickings for the carnivorous beast that lives in the trees. Unbeknown to the Queen, Snow White is rescued by seven plucky dwarves – Napoleon (Jordan Prentice), Butcher (Martin Klebba), Chuckles (Ronald Lee Clark), Grimm (Danny Woodburn), Grub (Joe Goffo), Half Pint (Mark Povinelli) and Wolf (Sebastian Saraceno) – who teach her to fend for herself. Armed with her favourite dagger, Snow White returns to the court to reclaim the throne, banish the Queen and win the heart of Prince Alcott (Armie Hammer).

STREETDANCE 2 Talented street dancer Ash (Falk Hentschel) seizes his one shot at glory during a high-profile competition but falls flat on his face in front of reigning champions Invincible. Dusting himself off, he meets wise-cracking Eddie (George Sampson), who suggests they join forces to create a crew from around the world with the potential to dethrone Invincible. So the young men criss-cross Europe, seeking out the most imaginative, daring and supple performers to fill the ranks of their ramshackle squad.

21 JUMP STREET Morton Schmidt (Jonah Hill) and Greg Jenko (Channing Tatum) both enrol at police academy and work together to ensure they complete the physical and academic elements of the final exam. Life as cops turns out to be quite dull and their first bust ends in embarrassment. So they are sent in disgrace to Captain Dickson (Ice Cube), who orders the pair to pose as sibling students at the local school where drugs are rife.

Four-bed detached with swimming pool and a conservatory

coverproperty

Location Priory Avenue, Old Harlow

Category Four-bed detached

Additional Swimming pool, conservatory, en suite to master bedroom, secluded back garden

Guide price £535,000

Agent Genesis Property Services, 3 High Street, Old Harlow. Telephone (01279) 422422

THIS four bedroom detached property in Priory Avenue, Old Harlow, not only offers spacious living accommodation but also includes a swimming pool and playroom.

The house has been extended to include five reception rooms and two bathrooms. It is also within easy walking distance of Harlow Mill station.

Walk through the entrance porch and into the hallway which gives access to the lounge, kitchen, dining room, study, playroom and cloakroom.

The kitchen/breakfast room is a light and airy room with glass doors leading out onto the back garden. It features a range of attractive wall and base units with a central island. There is also a separate utility room.

The conservatory overlooks the back garden and the swimming pool and can be accessed from the lounge, which has a feature fireplace and, like the rest of the house, is decorated in neutral colours.

Upstairs, the master bedroom benefits from an en-suite shower room. There are a further three bedrooms and a family bathroom.

The back garden is secluded and the agent handling the sale says that the swimming pool can be removed if required.

To the front of the property is a block paved driveway with parking for about five vehicles. There is also a side entrance to the back garden.

Call Genesis Property Services on (01279) 422422 for more details or to arrange a viewing.

Getting the Most out of Your Property Investment

Superficially, lettings could be seen as relatively straightforward, and some firms do indeed regard themselves as a simple broking operation, with tenants being introduced to available properties.

However, if your investment is going to provide you with peace of mind as well as a great return, then you will want to know that the property is being managed by people who really care.

Our response to the ever-growing rentals market has been to take a good look at the opportunity to deliver a service to landlords which not only meets expectations, but goes way beyond. Indeed, many of our clients have commented that they have found our lettings service to be a breath of fresh air when compared to their previous experience!

For example, it is critical that all prospective tenants are thoroughly vetted and credit checked in order to ensure that they will not only pay the rent on time, but that they will also look after your property as if it were their own, if not better! Indeed, we are passionate about this issue, and during every tenancy we regularly visit the property personally. This not only means that we can keep an eye on how the tenants are treating it, but also allows us to advise you if any preventative maintenance should be undertaken (eg gutters cleared).

We find this ongoing relationship with your tenants is also an excellent way of showing them that you care, resulting in them treating you and your investment with the utmost respect, resulting in an optimum return and a peaceful night's sleep! After all, that's what a good letting agent is all about!

So when choosing a letting agent, why not choose the one who regards every property as if

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Are you a people person?

Do you enjoy working in a front line capacity?

Rainbow Services have the following vacancies on offer to community focused, enthusiastic and motivated individuals.

RECEPTION/FACILITIES OFFICER

Our Health Resource Centre is situated within the Harlow Leisurezone complex and we are seeking to appoint a "front of house" Reception/Facilities officer. Applicants will need to be physically active to carry out the facilities duties within this role. The post on offer will be 25 hours a week from 1pm until 6pm, Monday to Friday, with the opportunity for additional hours dependant on bookings and any additional cover required.

The salary is £6.75 per hour.

MOBILE PROJECT WORKER

Our Mobile Project offers community based activities for children and young people at various sites around Harlow. The successful applicant will assist in delivery of the programme in conjunction with the project co-ordinator and volunteers.

The post on offer is a 2 year contract (continuation subject to ongoing funding), funded via Lloyds TSB foundation and will be 30 hours a week, hours may vary but will be mostly after school and early evening.

This post requires NVQ level 2 (minimum), NNEB or equivalent childcare qualification and applicants will need to have a minimum of 1 years experience in a child/young person based setting. A full driving licence is required, held for over 5 years, in order to undergo bus driver training.

The salary is £6.50 per hour.

The successful applicant will be subject to an enhanced CRB check

WITH April arriving this weekend and Spring well and truly here, there's no excuse for closing the curtains and snuggling up by the fire! Now's the time to get those jobs done around the home and in the garden. The sunny days will not only highlight your dirty windows, tired kitchen and decorating needs they're also a great reason for getting out into the garden.

Before you pick up a duster or delve into your wardrobe, here are 10 top tips to help you clean up, declutter and revitalise your living space with the minimum of fuss...

Try to clean methodically from room to room: this will conserve your energy and ensure nothing gets missed out. Aimlessly wandering from the cupboard under the kitchen sink to disposing of your old T-shirts from the wardrobe will just end in frustration and mess! Take it one step at a time.

They're easy to forget, but duvets should be cleaned twice a year and now is the perfect time to do it. As you switch between winter and summer quilts, drop into the dry cleaners. Professional dry-cleaning is more likely to kill off dust mites and the allergens produced by them. Likewise curtains need cleaning to prolong their life and keep them looking as good as new. If the fabric is washable, you should be able to clean and iron them at home and ironing is most effective while they're still slightly damp. At the very least try vacuuming them as curtains can be dust traps.

You might want to think about getting your carpets cleaned professionally too. Or why not hire your own cleaner and do it yourself? It's amazing what a difference a clean carpet can make.

How about a new wardrobe? Before you get too excited, this doesn't involve a shopping trip, but just a little elbow grease. Take all of your clothes out from your wardrobe and drawers, and vacuum them thoroughly inside and out, then wash the insides with soap and water. When you hang everything back up even your oldest clothes will seem so much better!

Out in the garden you can carry on with your spring cleaning. If you have a greenhouse make sure you clean all of the glass inside and out and check the panes to see if any are loose or cracked and wash out all of your pots and trays.

Once the ground has dried out a bit and the earth does not stick to boots in great clods it is worth digging over the soil and mulching or feeding with, preferably, organic material and finally, why not do something for the wildlife? Garden birds are busy looking for appropriate nesting sites right now. Why not put up a nest box to help your little feathered friends? There are some really attractive boxes on the market which look lovely in the garden as well as providing shelter.

FORMER Essex skipper Ronnie Irani is known by millions of sports lovers as the cheery and lively soul who is the co-presenter on the Alan Brazil Sports Breakfast radio show on talkSPORT.

Listeners can hear his humour and passion for sport between 6am and 10am on weekdays.

This week Irani, who lives in West Essex with his wife Lorraine and two daughters, took time out to speak to Star sports reporter DAVID RIMMER.

SPORT is in his DNA – Ronnie Irani was born to play and talk about it.

The former Essex County Cricket Club skipper and England international simply lives and breathes it, but is a balanced character.

It does not seem almost five years ago that Irani was forced to quit cricket in June 2007 because of a knee injury.

It was a cruel blow, but the Lancastrian adapted and found work as a presenter with talkSPORT after they approached him with a job offer.

Prior to that his media work had included presenting the drive-time show on Dream FM.

He said: "Cricket was a stepping stone for what I am doing now. I realised when I started pro cricket at 16 that there would be a life after it."

A straightforward man with no airs and graces, Irani is young in outlook, a people person and made for his radio role.

He said: "It's fantastic. I have been doing it for four-and-a-half years. I love talking about sport and would like to do it for as long as possible.

He looks a bit tired with the early morning starts to and from South East London, but the sacrifice is worthwhile as he seems a lot less stressed than when he was Essex skipper.

"I love all sports. I'm always tired when I get up at 3.30am. When I get there at 4.30am I do not feel like eating anything."

Ronnie talks sport!

Previous captains of Essex, such as Keith Fletcher and Graham Gooch, had more reserved personalities.

Although Gooch has worked in the media, I could not imagine him or Fletcher being able to adapt to being on a daily talk show.

Irani gets on well with his co-presenter, the former Ipswich Town, Spurs and Manchester United player Alan Brazil, who affectionately calls him 'Chicken Biriani'.

"He's a very good person. He's a very good presenter and lets me get on with it," said Irani.

Talking about Brazil's well known love of refreshments, Irani chuckled: "He drinks beer and wine and it is like a DFS sale, it just goes on and on!"

Irani is an all-round sportsman and played football at a reasonable level when at school. He's also a staunch Manchester United fan.

"I'm a massive football fan. I played for Bolton Boys Federation at 14 or 15, and played at a decent level," he said.

"I was a centre forward. I was not good enough to be a pro. I played with the likes of [ex-Manchester City star] Gary Flitcroft and [ex-Blackburn Rovers player] Jason Wilcox.

"Gary was so good on the ball and in his reading of the game."

The former Essex skipper's love of the Red Devils was fostered through his Dad.

A wistful Irani said: "My Dad has been a fan since 1961. I saw my first game in 1976 and have been a season ticket holder for 33 years.

"I remember Martin Buchan and the Greenhoff brothers [Jimmy and Brian]. Lou Macari was a clever footballer."

He feels you can only judge players in their own eras and Ryan Giggs is a favourite while Eric Cantona has a special place in Irani's heart.

"He was the best. He was sheer class. He brought the best out of all the youngsters," he said.

But being a former professional, cricket is his first love and he hopes Essex will enjoy a renaissance this summer.

He said: "I was pleased when Essex won the one day trophy in the season after I left, but we have had three average seasons and have to get better. We have to kick on and be better.

"I hope the youngsters come through. You can only give them a chance and hope they grasp it."

Irani will be remembered as an extremely capable and wholehearted cricketer but also for the legacy he left in blooding talented youngsters when captain at Essex from 2000 to 2007.

Of the players who came into the Essex team under Irani, Alastair Cook and Ravi Bopara have thrived the most.

He said: "At Essex I had backing to bring in the young players. I knew Alastair from when he was around 16. He was mentally strong.

"He worked hard and he knew his game. He has a good attitude and he keeps things simple."

Irani, who also presents The Cricket Show on TalkSPORT during the summer, has strong opinions on who should be playing for the Test team.

He said: "I would not have [Eoin] Morgan in the side. He does not have a solid base. His head is not still when he bats. I would have Ravi in the team.

"I hope it goes well for Ravi this year. I think Paul Collingwood should have gone earlier than he did, and if he had, Ravi would be established now."

Irani also serves on the cricket committee and general committee at Essex CCC.

He predicts a very bright future for quick bowler Tyrone Mills and has also been impressed with off-spinner and all-rounder Harry Ramsden, who has just joined the Essex Academy.

He said: "Tyrone is special. He will go all the way and could be up there in two years. He's quick and he bowls accurately."

"Harry is consistently accurate, he gets bounce and that is a good start. To be a class off spinner like Graeme Swann, you have to have bottle and react well when you get hit."

Looking ahead to the current summer, the England versus South Africa Test series will be close and Irani finds it hard to pick a winner.

"There is so little to choose between the two teams. It could just come down to one poor session by a team. It promises to be a good series.

"What [Kevin] Pietersen does will be massive [for the outcome] and Graeme Swann could play a big part."

Irani wishes he could still be playing.

"I miss going for runs, taking wickets and the dressing room banter. I just miss playing the game itself. If I played tomorrow the knee would just swell up," he said.

"If an ex-cricketer does not miss it, there is something wrong."

'Every game is important now'

Enfield Town 0, Harlow Town 3 Ryman League division one north

HARLOW Town are in good spirits as they seek to keep their play-off dream on track with two games over the Easter weekend.

The Hawks are currently in sixth place, two points off the last play-off spot.

They host seventh placed AFC Sudbury on Saturday before taking on basement side Ware away on Monday.

"Every game is important now," said manager Danny Chapman. "Sudbury are going for promotion and Ware are trying to avoid the drop."

Harlow showed real character when they picked up their third consecutive win at Enfield Town.

Skipper Danny Brown dropped out after suffering a calf injury in the warm-up and Hawks were reduced to 10 men after just 23 minutes when striker Jeff Hammond was sent off.

Hammond had been booked earlier for a foul before a late tackle earned him a straight red.

Chapman said: "Their player went down as if he had been shot and got up when Hammond had gone.

"After Danny being ruled out and the sending off, you wondered what would go wrong next but all of our players were excellent. We did really well."

Despite being a man down, Harlow took the lead after 36 minutes when the Enfield keeper spilled Dave Cowley's corner and Luke Marshall headed home.

Cowley made it 2-0 on the stroke of half-time with a perfect free-kick round the wall. Fantastic skill from Bertie Brayley, who rounded four players before slotting home, added a third on 66 minutes.

Chapman said: "It was a great goal from Bertie. He was more himself than he had been in the previous two games."

Striker Danny Elmes, who has been released by nPower League Two club Northampton, was signed by Harlow before the deadline. He came on as a second half substitute against Enfield.

Chapman has also signed defender Jack Dekanski from Waltham Forest and midfielder Stanley Muguo from Grays Athletic, as well as calling up former Hawks keeper James Hasell as cover for Bertrand Bossu. Forward Ben Jones has left to rejoin Barking.

HARLOW TOWN: Bossu, Taylor, Deane, Kirby, Haverson, Kilapi, Marshall (Elmes, 87), Maxwell, Hammond (sent off 23), Brayley (Wixon, 82), Cowley (Day, 80). Sub not used: Wheeler.

Rams' promotion hopes go right down to the wire

Harlow 23, South Woodham Ferrers 17 RFU London division three north east

THE Rams kept their promotion dream alive with a hard-fought home win over South Woodham Ferrers in their penultimate match.

Harlow are now sitting third, just two points behind second placed Stowmarket after the latter drew at leaders Holt.

For Harlow to claim second spot and promotion they must beat East London away on April 14 and hope that Stowmarket lose at lowly Wymondham.

Harlow captain Shaun Roberts said: "We just have to win and hope that Stowmarket lose to Wymondham, but the form book would indicate a Stowmarket win."

Harlow went ahead after 15 minutes against Ferrers. Good back play preceded Simon Vanbeck passing to Vernez Kotze, who outpaced the defence to score under the posts.

Danny Smith kicked the conversion and drop-kicked a goal on 25 minutes for a 10-0 lead.

Harlow edged further ahead on the half-hour mark when prop Danny Stonehouse touched down an unconverted try from a rolling maul.

Smith kicked a penalty on the stroke of half-time to give the Rams an 18-0 lead.

The visitors had the slope in their favour after the break and they broke through the home defence to score an unconverted try on 50 minutes.

SCORE: Kain Claridge touches down for Harlow's third try while scrum half Rhys Powell, centre, celebrates

But Harlow bounced back with Kain Claridge scoring a try from a scrum close to the visitors' line on the hour mark for a 23-5 lead.

The Rams had winger Josh Drake sin-binned on 65 minutes for a loose play offence and, down to 14, they conceded a try.

Harlow took unnecessary risks as they chased the fourth try for a bonus point but conceded another try on 77 minutes.

The lead had been cut to six points as one of the conversions had been kicked, but Harlow held out for the win. Roberts added: "We started well and defended well for the majority of the game but we have got to learn to play for 80 minutes and not just 65 minutes. It has cost us games this season."

>>sports briefs

>>hockey HARLOW Hockey Club men's first team finished fourth in division four south east of the East Men's Hockey League after thrashing Romford 9-2 at home in their last game.

Adam Ottley put Harlow ahead with a reverse stick strike and Craig Cholerton made it 2-0. James Smith then bagged a first half hat-trick while the visitors scored twice to leave Harlow leading 5-2 at half-time.

The second half saw Ottley complete a hat-trick and Rhys Mace and Cholerton also score.

● Harlow Hockey Club women's first team came third in the premier division of the Essex Women's Hockey League.

This was after a weakened Harlow side beat Uppminster II 3-0 at home in the last game.

Harlow were without Georgina Esterhuysen, who was getting married in South Africa, and several of her Harlow team-mates who were attending the wedding. Rebecca Dolan, Sarah Donoghue and Clare Attack netted for Harlow.

>>judo FAITH Pitman has been named in a 22-strong British team for the 2012 Judo European Championships in Russia later this month.

The 26 year-old from Harlow will be competing in the event at Chelyabinsk from April 26-29.

Pitman will be competing in the U-63kg category.

>>running ROB Lowe was the first Harlow Running Club member to complete the St Clare Hospice 10km race.

Lowe completed Sunday's race in a personal best time of 36 mins 56 secs. He was seventh overall and the 1st Vet 40 finisher.

He was followed home by Steve Mackenzie (16th, 39mins 29secs) and Roy Steven (20th and 1st Vet 60, in 40mins 40secs).

>>basketball HARLOW Hawks' hopes of getting into the play-offs ended when they lost 79-67 at home to the Genting Raiders in division one of the Herts Basketball League.

Hawks had to win to get in the top eight for the play-offs.

Adam Ball (23) was the Hawks top points-scorer.
